Welcome to the third issue of the third volume of International Journal of Environmental and Science Education (IJESE). Starting with current issue we have done the new changes in the journal web site. Also, you'll easily notice that we now have a different page format for articles and a different typesetting. We hope with these changes you'll enjoy IJESE more. Dr. Pavol Prokop, the Associate Editor of IJESE, has been very instrumental for making these changes possible. He put in a lot of effort and hard work that should be appreciated by all of us related to IJESE in some way.

We also would like to welcome new editorial board members. We are believed that IJESE is becoming more and more popular around the globe. Our aim is to reach more and more educators and researchers around the world and to assist them in fulfilling their self-development.

Please write and let us know what you think about IJESE. We will always appreciate your thoughts and comments and be glad to share them with our readers. Now, the time is to go through the pages of the journal. We hope you'll find IJESE as a valuable resource for yourself and consider contributing in the future in different capacities.
